The 9th Annual Royal Marsden Head and Neck Conference: “Head and Neck Cancer – the shape of things to come?”

Date: Friday 10 November 2017

Venue: The Royal College of Physicians, London, UK

After the success of the last eight years it is with great pleasure that you are invited to participate in the ninth annual head and neck study day. This year we have chosen to look into the future and explore some of potential advances that might occur in the management of head and neck cancer over the next decade. The meeting assembles some of the country's leading experts to critically discuss the evidence base for topics as diverse as immunotherapy, metastasectomy, adaptive radiotherapy and advances in imaging. A detailed programme will follow very soon.

Target Audience: The meeting will be of particular interest to maxillofacial, ENT or plastic surgeons with an interest in head and neck oncology, as well as clinical / medical oncologists, radiologists and pathologists. Our invitation is extended to consultants and trainees alike, as well as other members of the multidisciplinary team. The meeting will be interactive with ample opportunity to discuss the evidence presented.
